SAFETY SHOULD BE THE PRIORITY

- Colleges cannot re-open in the fall without testing, tracing and treatment.
- As effective COVID-19 testing becomes available, colleges should be given the testing resources necessary to ensure that it is safe for all students, faculty, and staff to return to campus and that they will remain safe while on campus. Federal funding to help colleges adequately prepare and effectively execute the return of students to the classroom will protect our campuses and larger communities.
- We also need assistance to help fund the enormous costs associated with protecting our new online systems from cybersecurity attacks.